

LEGISLATIVE.

Saturday, July 8.—The Finance Committee reported on the matter relating to the building of the new Palace and also some statements of costs, and the reports of architects employed to investigate said building. The committee in their report made reference to the unnecessary large expenditures of public monies, and also as to the careless manner in which the work had been done. The report was ordered to be printed.

The special committee to whom was referred the act to amend section 267 of the Civil Code, relating to the number of Police officers for each district throughout the Kingdom, reported recommending the passage of the bill with previous amendments. The report was adopted, and the bill ordered to be read a third time on Wednesday next.

The committee to whom was referred the subject of double taxation imposed on certain persons reported that the amounts so taxed over the proper amounts of taxes be returned. Adopted.

The Hon. J. W. Kalua then read a petition from the lepers who are living in the Kakaako Leprosy Hospital, Honolulu, praying that Mr. Van Gieson, the Superintendent of said Hospital be discharged from such position. Referred to a special committee consisting of His Ex. W. M. Gibson, Hons. Kalua, Palohau, Pilipo and Kean.

The Hon. C. R. Bishop gave notice of intention to introduce a bill relating to young children who are at the Reformatory School.

Mr. Pilipo read a resolution that the translating of bills be given to W. L. Wilcox. Adopted.

Under the Order of the Day, the act to amend sections 2 and 3 of an Act approved the 14th day of April, 1859, relating to the putting up of fences by land owners, was read a third time, and after considerable discussion, was referred to a select committee, consisting of Messrs. Kean, Widemann, Mahoe, Gardner and Kauhane.

The House then adjourned till 10 a.m. on Monday, July 10.

In our issue of the 6th inst. we noticed the fact that "no Hawaiian flags were among the decorations in the Music Hall, last Tuesday evening." We have received an explanatory letter from the Ball Committee, in regard to the above item, in which they give very good reason for the absence of the Hawaiian flags. We are very pleased to say that it was no fault of the Committee, as all arrangements had been made to have had the Royal Standard and other Hawaiian flags in the Hall.

Execution of Guiteau.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—At 12:25 o'clock the loud steam-whistle was blown at the workhouse, which is near the jail. This whistle usually blows at 12 o'clock, and by it Guiteau was in the habit of gauging the time. The delay to-day was by special arrangement, so that its startling summons might not come before the officers were ready. Two minutes later the iron gates at the end of the corridor clicked. Then Warden Crocker made his appearance, and a moment later the familiar figure of Guiteau was seen. His face was pallid, and the muscles about the mouth moved nervously. Other than this there were no signs of faltering. His arms were pinioned behind him, and he held his head erect. He gazed upon the crowd without flinching. He wore a black suit of clothes, and instead of a collar had a handkerchief thrown loosely about his neck. Those who expected sickening or distressing scenes were disappointed.

Guiteau ascended the somewhat steep steps with as much steadiness as could be expected from a man whose hands were tightly pinioned. At the last step he faltered for a moment, but was assisted by the officers who walked upon either side. Upon reaching the platform Guiteau was placed immediately behind the drop facing to the front of the scaffold. There was a slight delay while the spectators were pushing and jostling through the door leading from the rotunda to the corridor, at the lower end of which the gallows was placed. Guiteau meanwhile gazed upon the crowd, looked up at the beam over his head and quickly made a survey of all the dread paraphernalia.

The Rev. Mr. Hicks gave Guiteau his final benediction and farewell, saying, "God the Father be with you," and the attendants then pinioned his legs and carefully adjusted the noose about his neck. Mr. Strong placed the black cap over his head, and as he did so Guiteau called out in loud tones, "Glory! Glory! Glory!" Instantly the trap was sprung, and the body turned partly around, but there was not the slightest perceptible motion of the limbs. When the drop fell a yell was sent up by some person inside of the jail. This was re-echoed outside by the thousand or more people, who hurrahed lustily. There was a general onslaught by the populace upon the jail door, which the officers were unable to withstand, and hundreds of people crowded into the office. For at least forty seconds after the drop fell the body hung motionless. Then there was a slight motion of the shoulders and legs, due to muscular contraction. Three minutes after the drop fell the body was lowered, to be examined by the physicians present. There was a decided action of the heart for fully fourteen minutes, and the pulse fluttered for ten minutes longer. When the body had hung with the feet just touching the ground for over half an hour it was lowered into a coffin which was waiting for it under the scaffold.

Mrs. Scoville was denied admittance to the corridor, and remained outside the jail during the execution, in a carriage. She was very much excited when they refused to let her in, but at her brother John's suggestion she left the door and seated herself in her carriage. She had some flowers with her, which she intended to place on Guiteau's coffin. She was nervous and wept when the shout which announced the death of her brother was sent by the multitude. Mrs. Scoville's floral offering for the funeral of her brother, consists of four beautiful pieces; a large anchor resting on a pillow, and also a cross, crown and wreath, composed of white roses, carnation pinks and lustral leaves.

Excitement in England.

New York, June 30th.—A Star London cablegram says: There is an effort in official circles to veil the disquietude felt in consequence of the crisis in Egyptian affairs. While it is not even yet certain that war may come, the bustle and activity in the army and navy would appear to be an almost assured presage of that result. In the event of war with Egypt it is understood to be the intention of the leaders of the revolutionary party in Ireland to take advantage of England's embarrassed condition and precipitate a general rising in Ireland. It is estimated that within a few days the military strength of England, at Alexandria and Malta, will be greatly augmented, and that 30,000 troops of all arms will be held ready for active service. To-day 3000 troops embarked at Portsmouth, and a like detachment goes out to-morrow. The news of the threatened revolution in Ireland causes considerable excitement here. It is now believed that plans for such a movement were secretly discussed after the recent Parnell dinner in London.
